

STRIKES WATER 78 FEET DEPTH; FLOW IS GOOD

L. C. Woolery "Brings in" Well at Shallow Depth on Ranch Near Land; Cost Less Than $100

FIRST ATTEMPT BRINGS SUCCESS

Cheapness of Getting and Apparent Abundance of Irrigator Means Much to District Farmers

Water spouting and bubbling an inch and a half above a four inch casing, with the well sunk only to a depth of 78 feet, in the good fortune of Lou C. Woolery, well known in this city, but who now has a ranch near Land. This is the best well that has ever been encountered at such a slight depth in that section, and when one considers that the sinking of the well cost considerably less than $100, and what water means in this country, will easily understand that Mr. Woolery has a little bonanza in this, the first well he has put down on his ranch. He has land and water now, and that combination in Arizona spells success in capital letters.

Mrs. L. Woolery was in from the ranch yesterday, and left at the Commercial club a photograph showing the flow from their well. This picture shows Mr. Woolery with his hand over the pipe, causing the rising water to spurt high in all directions, while there is a rippling brook flowing around and off from the well pipe. While this is the first well put down on this ranch, there are two or three others on nearby ranches that are giving good flows, and in that section the question of cheap water, easily obtained, appears to be solved to the entire satisfaction of ranch owners.

STREET CARS CLASH TROOPERS INJURED

Douglas Motorman Could Not Operate Brakes; Buggy Smashed

There was a collision of two of the street cars on the Douglas street railway last night after six o'clock at the corner of Tenth street and G avenue in which one soldier belonging to the Fourth cavalry was seriously hurt and one or two others were slightly injured. The window panes were broken in both cars and a buggy, the owner of which was unknown to the street car officials was damaged, it being caught in the mixup. Ira Clark was the motorman on a car that was coming in from the soldier's camp at the ball park and when he reached the corner of Tenth and C he ran into a car that was standing on the track at the corner. Clark says that he was coming at only the usual speed and when he attempted to apply the brake for the slow up at the corner he discovered that the brake would not work and then he quickly gave the signal for the car to go which he was heading to get out of the way, but before this car could be gotten into motion he struck it with a bang that sent his passengers into a pile in the car.

Omar Phelan, motorman on the obstructing car practically corroborated the statement of Clark as to how the accident occurred and what caused it. William Bunch, of company A, Fourth cavalry was the more seriously injured. He with W. F. Osborne, of troop C, were both thrown from their feet and Bunch was knocked senseless and received a painful sprain of the wrist. He was temporarily cared for by his companions, his wrist being bandaged by his companions and afterwards he was taken to camp in an automobile. While he was suffering much pain he refused to concede that he was seriously hurt.

STATUE OF BACON UNVEILED

LONDON, June 29.—A statue of Francis Bacon, the eminent Elizabethan scholar whom critics have described as one of the greatest masters of prose in the English language, and the possessor of one of the greatest intellects the world has ever produced, was unveiled today in South Square, Gray's Inn, with which institution the career of the famous scholar and lawyer is intimately connected. The Rt. Hon. Arthur J. Balfour unveiled the memorial and delivered the oration in the presence of a large throng, that included many persons of distinction.

CANANEA MINING NEWS

CANANEA, Sonora, Mexico, June 29.—The Cananea Consolidated Copper company made an important announcement during the past week. At the time the company resumed operations in July of 1908, after the long shut down, a promise was given to their workmen that whenever copper should reach a selling price in the market of 18 cents a pound some readjustment would be made in wages. While the price of copper has not yet reached that level, the outlook is nevertheless good, and the management of the company feels justified in making some concessions to the working men. Accordingly notices have been posted announcing changes in working time and other readjustments, which will take effect July 1.

All those employees, with certain exceptions, such as watchmen, etc., who are at present working nine and a half hours a day, have had their working time reduced to nine hours a day. This affects all the day shift at the mines, all shophmen throughout the camp, the concentrator men and the smelter men who work nine and a half hours, of whom there is a considerable number. In fact, outside of the foregoing exceptions, it leaves only two working schedules, namely, eight hours and nine hours. The premium system has been suspended, and all those employees who are at present on the premium basis will receive the equivalent of the premium rate in flat wages; that is, those who now receive, for example, three pesos a day and a premium of 50 centavos in case they work at least 26 days during the month, will hereafter receive regular wages of $3.50 (pesos) a day without premium, regardless of the number of days they may work during the month.

Announcement is made that the company reserves the right to re-instate the premium system should it develop that the employees generally become unsteady in their work as a result of its suspension.

The change from premium payments to flat wages involves a substantial increase in the amount of the monthly pay roll of the company. Certain other changes in wage rates have been made especially in the mechanical departments, and although the advance is not quite general, it is in the nature of a general readjustment, and the total increase will be substantial.

The company reserves the right to readjust wages in the event that a considerable drop in the market price of copper should make this necessary.

This week work was resumed at the El Pilar mine, located in the Santa Cruz district, about 30 miles west of Cananea, in the Magdalena mining district. The work is being superintended by A. O. Koopfer. It is owned by Ed. R. Arnold, former mayor of Cananea, who at present resides at Nogales. A small force of men was placed at work on cleaning up the mine preparatory to the beginning of active operations and it is expected that in a short time shipments of copper ore will begin. The property is considered an excellent one and a deal for the property was about to be closed a short time before the political troubles began.

The Calumet and Sonora Copper Co. operating a property on the Alamo ranch, about 10 miles east of Llanos, is preparing to resume operations under the management of Supt. Thos. Lake. The property is considered a good copper proposition and quite a little work has been done in the way of developing it, with excellent results. The West Coast Smelting and Refining company (Tecolote Copper Co.) will probably soon blow in its new smelter which has not yet been used, owing to the unsettled conditions. During the past week fifty men were taken out to the property and put at work cleaning up preparatory to the active operation of the property.

Considerable activity is to be noticed about the Altar district, especially among the placer properties. West of La Cienega, John Harris is working seven men and extracting about 15,000 pesos worth of gold weekly with the aid of a dry washer. Other small properties are being successfully operated by F. M. Doane Jr., Dr. Roberts, Ben Bray and others, some using the Quenner machine. El Tigre is reported to be mining and milling more ore at the present time than ever before in the history of that famous property. Conditions at the camp are said to be in better shape than for some time.

North Tigre is now working about five men in the cross-cut tunnel, which has reached a point of 540 feet from the portal and cut the ledge with excellent results. It is reported that some high-grade silver ore has been exposed which seems to be a portion of a large ore body. President R. P. Brown has recently returned from the property and is well pleased with conditions at the property.

Various reports from the Magdalena district are to the effect that there is a general revival in the mining industry in that portion of the state. It is also reported that another big deal is about to be closed for a property in that locality. Several claims have recently changed hands and it is expected that in a short time there will be quite a number in active operation.

In the south many of the properties which are now idle will be resuming operations as soon as the hot season is over, in fact some of the small properties have already resumed, after being idle for a few months due to the Yaqui scare.

SAD LOVE ENDS IN A DOUBLE TRAGEDY

Princess Stephanie's Niece Shot by Baron, Who Kills Himself

VIENNA, June 29.—"We are the victims of hopeless love," "We wished to die together," "Please deal gently with our bodies." Such was the last letter, a confession at once of passion and suicide, written by Countess Alice Alberti, a beautiful woman of thirty. The Countess and Baron Kuerty, ten years her junior, died together, the Baron's father having forbidden him to marry her only because of the disparity of their ages. The double tragedy was enacted in

EASTERN MARKETS YESTERDAY

(By T. J. Overlock)
BOSTON, June 29.—The local market shows little change today. North Butte and Superior and Butte were fractionally stronger. The whole list was very dull, and no one showed any disposition to trade either way. The market position of Isle Royale, Quincy, Copper Range and Shannon looks especially good, and these stocks should be leaders in the next upward movement.

a railway car, and was discovered when the car reached a station here. The Countess, who had been shot through the bosom, was found on a car chair. With both hands she clutched a crucifix to her breast.

The Baron, shot through the temple, lay on the floor of the car, a revolver by his side. The conclusion is inevitable that he shot the Countess, his ready victim, then put the pistol to his head.

The unhappy pair belonged to highly aristocratic families. Countess Alberti was of ancient Tyrolean descent. She was a niece of Count De Lonyay, the second husband of Princess Stephanie of Belgium, who first married the ill-fated Archduke Rudolf of Austria, her apparent to the throne.

Ancient Armor Small.
"Knights" for "Shakespeare's England" Bigger Than of Old.

LONDON, June 29.—Much has been said and written in recent years about the deterioration in physique of the modern Englishman, compared with that of his ancestors, and yet all the armor for the knights who are to take part in the tournament at "Shakespeare's England" on July 11, has to be specially manufactured, because existing armor is all too small for the Englishman of today.
Englishmen's legs are so much bigger than they were even so recently as 1839, the date of the Eglington tournament, and their shoulders are much broader. Football, cricket and golf have made the modern Englishman much stouter in the limbs than was his horse-riding ancestor.
